

Linguistic Mechanisms in Dream Interpretation according to Sigmund Freud and Carl Gustav Jung

Mariya Kitanova

(Summary)

The article focuses on certain “points of contact” between the theories of dream interpretation developed by Sigmund Freud and Carl Gustav Jung and modern cognitive linguistics. The author underlines the relevance of linguistic transformations such as metaphor, metonymy, symbolization, paronymy, homonymy, paronomasia, and associative networks for Freud’s theory. Attention is also paid to the mechanisms of dream interpretation used by C. G. Jung: associative, metaphorical, and metonymic. The interpretation of symbols is a focal point in the study.

Keywords: cognitive linguistics; metaphor; metonymy; symbol; antonyms; paronyms; associative networks

Mariya Kitanova
Bulgarian Academy of Sciences
Institute for Bulgarian Language
52 Shipchenski prohod, Bl. 17
Sofia 1113, BULGARIA
miyak@abv.bg